Allergen Control Policy

Allergen containing ingredients are stored segregated to prevent potential for cross-contamination with other materials. When allergen-containing ingredients are received, they are slotted in designated areas for storage.

Allergen containing raw materials shall not be stacked directly above non-allergens, different allergens or packaging materials. Pallets with products that contain multiple allergens are stored so that it does not cause an allergen risk.

Food allergen awareness training is provided to personnel including new, full time, part time and temporary employees on a yearly basis or as needed.
